Facts about Las Alamandas

Las Alamandas is an exclusive resort situated on 2,000 acres within a private estate on the Pacific coast and is a pristine nature reserve.

It is Mexico's ultimate escape!

This secluded haven, named by many magazines as one of the most romantic hotels of the world, was designed and developed by Isabel Goldsmith-Patiño. It offers to its guest's luxury, comfort, and the highest standards of personalized hospitality in an exquisite setting. Las Alamandas was featured on the cover of Architectural Digest and was chosen by The Robb Report 100 as one of "Earth's Most Exclusive Retreats".

It is not a diamond in the rough, it is an exquisite jewel on the Costalegre. Managed like an elegant private estate where guests feel completely at home. The resort is ideal for a romantic getaway, intimate honeymoons, unique family reunions and spectacular beach weddings. Eight villas luxuriously designed for gracious indoor-outdoor living and beautifully appointed suites offer privacy, comfort, and accommodate up to 45 guests. "A" list client that have experienced the ultimate privacy Las Alamandas has to offer are Brad Pitt, Sting, Trudie Styler, Maxwell, and Cindy Crawford. With a clientele of many celebrity guests and Fortune 500 CEO's, the hotel is often rented out in its entirety for a special event and is a favourite location for fashion shoots.

Guests can enjoy gourmet Contemporary Mexican Cuisine featuring a fusion of finest Mexican recipes prepared with fresh and organic ingredients, fresh seafood and produce grown on-property. Meals are served at the "Oasis" Restaurant, at the main Beach Club "La Palapa" overlooking the Pacific Ocean, in the privacy of your suite or as a gourmet-picnic on one of the four private beaches.

Guests can indulge with spa treatments and massages to the sound of the Pacific or at our new Spa facility. They can enjoy horseback riding at sunset, kayaking on the lagoons, take bicycle tours or hike to Look-out Point or simply sunbathe by the pool or take a siesta gently swaying in one of the many hammocks. More than a luxurious vacation retreat, Las Alamandas is the perfect hideaway.

Décor & Ambiance

Las Alamandas is nestled on its own private sweep of white-sand beach, with a rocky cape at both ends, amid verdant gardens of towering palms, flowing fountains, expansive lawns and flowering plants – including the resort's namesake yellow La Alamanda , also known as the Copa de Oro.

It is one of the most beautiful natural environments of any resort.

The villas were designed and decorated by owner Isabel Goldsmith-Patiño who graced each villa, and each suite, with an individual color scheme and a unique style and feel.

Hand-made is the operative theme – from ornate and colorful hand-painted accents around doors and walls to hand-embroidered cushions and hand-made artisan, paintings, and sculptures from different regions of Mexico.

Shaded terraces, with daybeds and sofas in such colors as canary yellow and bright pink, offer the most comfortable and inviting atmosphere.

Extra-spacious bathrooms are enlivened with extensive use of hand-made, colorful Mexican tiles. The theme carries over throughout the resort, from the beachside restaurant's soaring hand-built traditional Palapa to the walking paths of hand-inlaid pebbles.

Dining & Entertainment

Oasis Restaurant & La Palapa Beach Club:

Las Alamandas' Contemporary Mexican Cuisine is a fusion of classic Mexican recipes, the finest fresh and organic ingredients, the latest Mexican and international trends, and the creativity of the resort's chefs. The seafood is freshly caught by local fisherman, meats are procured from local farmers and most of the vegetables, lettuces, herbs, and fruits are grown in the resort's own organic gardens. It is served in both the beautiful indoor-outdoor dining room and bar of Oasis Restaurant, and at the sand's edge at the La Palapa Beach Club.

Bar Azul

The "Blue Bar" is an open-air, rooftop lounge decorated in shades of blue where cocktails are mixed with extraordinarily colorful sunsets and a sea of stars above.

Las Alamandas Completes Major Renovation Transforming the Exclusive Romantic Hideaway

"The new Las Alamandas is a chic haven of gracious luxury and seductive comfort in a sublime natural setting," explained Ms. Isabel Goldsmith-Patiño.

"We updated and enhanced every aspect of the resort, as well as renovated many beautiful facilities, to take the guest experience at Las Alamandas to new heights."

The renovation to the boutique resort included

- A fully renovated Wellness Center now with a new Spa
 - Main swimming pool now may be heated
 - Presidential Suite private pool now may be heated
- New ocean view villa with two Suites; ground floor and second floor.
- Renovated Beach Club Palapa with a new additional Tapanco for sunbathing

The new Casa Bougainvillea has a fabulous sunset view overlooking the main Plaza Delfines and a view on the pink dome! It has a ground floor bedroom with 2 queen size beds en-suite bathroom with a sexy double shower with a terrace and an outdoor daybed to relax and enjoy the view, a jacuzzi with an ocean view, is the cherry on the cake. The top floor bedroom has a romantic four-poster bed and balcony, en-suite bathroom with a sexy double shower and a rooftop daybed and jacuzzi to enjoy the spectacular views. Surrounded by bougainvilleas, this is a contemporary, chic villa with touches of pink.

With the additions of Casa Bougainvillea, the resort now has eight villas with a total of 18 suites. Fourteen of the 18 suites have Jacuzzis.

The spacious art gallery and lounge is the new gathering spot where guests relax in comfortable sitting areas, watch movies and sports events on the big-screen TV and view dynamic exhibits by noted Mexican artists.

Exhibits are rotated throughout the year, showcasing a variety of artists and styles.

Massage Services & Yoga Classes:

A menu of different massages is offered in an oceanfront Palapa where relaxation and rejuvenation are enjoyed to the sounds of the surf. A seaside yoga Palapa is available for one-on-one classes.
